

WHEAT BULLETS
TO BE PLENTYFULHighly Beneficial Rains for Grain and Oats Give Assurance.

"Made in America" weather conditions have been noted over the entire grain region since the season began. The weather has been in sharp contrast with the seemingly "Made in Germany" weather experienced for a considerable part of the previous crop season. It seems more certain than ever that "wheat bullets" will be plentiful this year and that other grains will be in abundant supply. For this reason, the weather which is handicapped by a scarcity of planting seed, has the advantage of an excellent soil, due to the beneficial rains of late.

Furthermore, the Government is alive to the corn situation and through its many agents has awakened farmers to the necessity of having their seed corn ready; this suggests a smaller acreage of corn, but with continued favorable weather a liberal yield per acre and much better germination of the corn that is planted than would be the case under other circumstances.

The official weather map of yesterday was superb. The entire district west of the Mississippi and the Canadian border line down through Texas showed general precipitation, mostly rain, and better than light. At various points the precipitation was really heavy. The spring wheat belt was moistened; also the winter wheat area with the exception of Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. These three States received rainfall the middle of the week.

The precipitation will be worth the equivalent of millions of dollars to the winter wheat and winter oats crops. These have come at a splendid time and with the higher temperatures to be expected at this season of the year good crop growth will soon take place. It is the feeling of the majority of the more northern sections will be delayed somewhat; also that there will be a setback to the completion of spring wheat seeding and that the planting of corn will be delayed, yet the season for all these crops thus far is early and these delays will be more than offset by the benefit that the soil will derive from the copious rains.

The Government report on Monday will treat only of winter wheat and winter oats and will not reflect in full the situation of the other crops. The report which was issued since April 1. Nevertheless the crop report should be highly encouraging and if normal weather conditions prevail the next few weeks the Government report, covering more of the important crops, will also contain a high promise.

Chicago Grain Market.

Chicago, April 6.—Fresh strength developed in the corn market today as a result of buying on the part of commission houses with Eastern connections. Incentives for purchasing were found in the fact that the market for corn in the West was not so strong as it had been since April 1. Nevertheless the crop report should be highly encouraging and if normal weather conditions prevail the next few weeks the Government report, covering more of the important crops, will also contain a high promise.
